YOUTHS WHO RAISED BILLS HELD IN JAIL AS COUNTERFEITERS

Materials and Bills Seized By Raiders Following Arrest

Columbus, O., Aug. 20.—Accused of having operated in various parts of the nation, including Marion, Mansfield, and other Ohio points, Ray Lucas, 23, Marion and Perry Copass, 23, Tompkinsville, Ky., alleged counterfeiters, were scheduled to be arraigned here today before U. S. Commissioner Bradford.

They were arrested last Wednesday by federal and local police officials who announced that they also, seized materials used in counterfeiting and four counterfeit bills.

Arresting officers claimed both prisoners confessed their guilt. Copass it was stated, was the ringleader. The prisoners, it was claimed, admitted raising $1 and $2 bills to fraudulent $10's and $20's, and passing them. Copass, authorities declared, said he began his counterfeiting at Mansfield about a month ago, cashing the raised bills in stores there, and then went to other cities in this state where he continued his illegal operations by using $10 and $20 counterfeit bills in payment for small purchases.

Joint operations of the two men are said to have started a week ago when Copass, it was claimed, met Lucas who was out of employment, at Marion. Copass is alleged to have done all the counterfeiting, Lucas exchanging the illegal paper for good money.

COOLIDGE READY TO LEAVE PLYMOUTH TO GO TO SUMMER HOME

Party Plans Visit To Mother of Mrs. Coolidge On Way

Plymouth, Vt., Aug. 20.—All plans were made today for the departure of President Coolidge from his father's home here to Swampscott, Mass., and the summer White House.

This afternoon the executive and Mrs. Coolidge will leave Plymouth by motor with the expectation of stopping over night at Northampton, Mass., to visit Mrs. Coolidge's mother, Mrs. Elmer Goodhue.

The president is looking forward to the overnight stay in Northampton with more than usual interest. It was there he made the political start that carried him to the White House. It was there he hung out his law shingle, there he met his wife, there his children were born.

It was from Northampton that he went to the state legislature, then to the governorship and then into national politics.

Mrs. Goodhue is now living in the modest two family house which, at a rental of $32.50 a month, the president housed his family during his life in Northampton. There again he expects to find pleasant memories.

The schedule calls for the president and Mrs. Coolidge to leave their old home tomorrow morning, arriving back in Swampscott tomorrow afternoon.

The fight was waged in automobiles, the bandit car being pursued by the policeman. Streets were swept in both directions by bullets from the two cars, which at one time sped along a crowded section of Broadway.

The wounded negro, who was not able to give his name, is not expected to live. The prisoner, John Wages, confessed he and his two companions help up a drug store.

BELIEVE RIFFIAN REBELS BEING DRIVEN NORTHWARD BY ARMIES OF THE INVADERS

Campaign However Is Preliminary To the Big Operations—Peace Envoys Coming Home After Hopeless Effort at Arbitration.

PARIS, AUG. 20.—The war ministry expressed belief today that the Rifian rebels in Morocco are being steadily driven northward and into a rapidly narrowing circle under the policy of "parade warfare" devised by Marshal Lyautey.

Marshal Petain is again enroute to Morocco for conference with General Primo De Rivera, head of the Spanish directory and with the French military commanders over the big offensive which the French and Spanish will be launched jointly within the very near future.

The present campaign in Morocco is preliminary to the big operations, however. It seems to be effective in clearing out posts of Rifian tribes who are thus being constantly driven towards one concentration, the hope of the French and Spanish commanders seeming to be to surround them and narrow the rebel circle as far as possible.

Announcement today by the foreign office that the French and Spanish emissaries sent to Morocco more than a month ago with Franco-Spanish peace terms for Abd-El-Krim were coming home indicated abandonment of all hope for peace by negotiation with the Riff leader.

The emissaries, M. Gabrielli for the French and Senor Mayrino for the Spanish, were ordered home because Abd-El-Krim made no move to receive the terms which they offered.

EDERLE WILL MAKE NEW CHANNEL TRY

Boulogne Sur Mer, France, Aug. 20.—Miss Gertrude Ederle, who made such a valiant attempt to swim the English channel last Tuesday, is still hopeful that she can make another attempt this year. She has already asked the women's swimming club if they will continue to back her financially.

"I am going to Dunkirk," Miss Ederle said to the International News Service this noon. "To rest up three or four days as the guest of Mile. Sion while awaiting reply from the women's swimming club whether they are willing to finance a second attempt this year which I am most anxious to try."

New York, Aug. 20.—A second attempt to swim the English channel by Gertrude Ederle, American girl swimmer, will be backed financially by the Women's Swimming Association of New York, officials of the organization announced today.

Miss Ederle was cabled word to this effect today by the association.

WOULD REMOVE CIVIL SERVICE RULES FROM HIGHWAY ENGINEERS

Considers Addition To Staff and Widening Along Curves

Columbus, O., Aug. 20.—A list of the highway subjects now being considered by the engineering and administration committees of the Ohio Good Roads Federation was submitted to the Hemple special legislative committee at a conference here today between the federal and legislative committees.

It was made plain that the federation committees have not completed their investigation and have submitted no recommendations.

Among the suggestions made to the federation committee, but upon which no action has so far been taken, are:

That all state engineering be done by state engineers.

That all state highway engineers be removed from civil service regulations.

That experienced engineers be appointed as inspectors.

That two chief engineer inspectors and a highway location engineer be added to the staff of the state highway department.

That fills be widened, especially on all curves and approaches to bridges.

That guard rails be placed further out from the road pavement.

That the right of way on state roads be made 60 feet and in some instances 80 feet. That the county surveyor shall be a civil engineer.

A 10-hour road building day, instead of present 8-hour day.

That a state highway board of five members constitute the advisory head of the state highway department.

That an organization committee constituted of two members from the Ohio Engineering Society, two from the Ohio Automobile Association, two from the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, two from the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation and two from the Ohio Good Roads Federation, be selected to recommend to the governor members of the highway board for appointment.

That the state, if possible, secure funds sufficient to pay the entire cost of construction and betterments on the state system and leave the counties free to develop their local roads for public travel.

REGULARS MUST SOLIDIFY TO BEAT BOB LA FOLLETTE

ADMINISTRATION TO SEND MISSIONARIES TO LEAD OPPOSITION

Hope to Reclaim Wisconsin To Ranks of Republicans Soon

Washington, Aug. 20.—Fearful that unless the "regulars" in Wisconsin get together and bury their tomahawks, young Bob LaFollette is going to have a law away in the race to succeed to his father's seat in the senate, a number of administration "missionaries" will go to Wisconsin during the next few weeks to try to solidify the LaFollette opposition. They will go with the best wishes—if not by the direct orders—of President Coolidge.

Both the president and Senator William Butler, chairman of the Republican national committee are keenly desirous of reclaiming Wisconsin to the ranks of G. O. P. regularly not only because it would increase the administration's none too comfortable margin here, but also, it is he Mr. Coolidge a prestige that would come in very handy when and if the president decides to again be a candidate in 1928. Every president since Roosevelt tried unsuccessfully to break the LaFollette domination and tradition in Wisconsin politics. Mr. Coolidge's friends figure it would be a fine political stroke if he should succeed where his distinguished predecessors failed.

Regular Republicans in Wisconsin among them Senator Lenroot, who selected Roy P. Wilcox as the regular nominee to oppose LaFollette, have advised Swampscott and Washington that the situation is "most serious" and that if it is to be saved, "but me prodigious work on the part of the national administration."

The principal trouble from the administration standpoint is that not all of the regulars are satisfied with Lenroot's selection of Roy P. Wilcox as the opponent for young Bob. Two other "regulars" have shown their dissatisfaction by also becoming candidates, ex-governor McConerny and Arthur Barry. This splits the LaFollette opposition to a point where Republican leaders here are downright alarmed.

In a straight out-and-out fight between young Bob and a conservative, regular nominee they believe there is an excellent chance of breaking the LaFollette grip on the state. But if the opposition is to be divided they shake their heads.

Not only republican leaders are going to Wisconsin to do quiet missionary work, but a number of orators are to be put into the state, according to present plans.

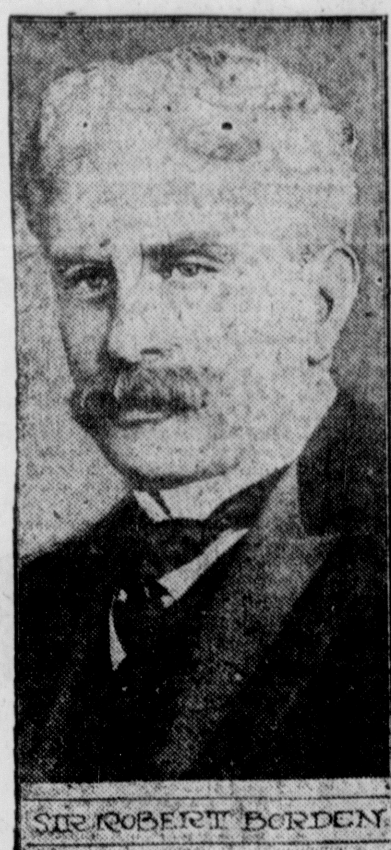

Senator George H. Moses, Republican of New Hampshire, chairman of the Republican senatorial campaign committee, already is in the state. He has personally advised Republican leaders here, as well as Senator Butler in Swampscott, that unless the regular in Wisconsin can get together he sees little hope of defeating young Bob in the primary September 15 or in the special election that will follow it two weeks later on September 29.

CHICAGO PUBLISHER DIES AFTER SHORT ILLNESS THURSDAY

Overwork Is Blamed For Heart Attack Causing Demise.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—Victor Freemont Lawson, for 49 years publisher of the Daily News, is dead.

Death occurred late last night at the lonely stone mansion on the lake front where he had lived with his servants since the death of Mrs. Lawson several years ago.

The end came swiftly and unexpectedly after an illness of three days. Heart disease was the cause, an affidavit brought on his associates assert, through overwork. There were no children to mourn the passing of the western newspaperman. His nearest Chicago relatives were at the bedside when he died.

Hopewell Rogers, business manager of the News and the family servants, three attending physicians and two nurses also were present when death came. His only immediate relatives a brother, Iver Lawson, of San Diego, Calif., and a brother-in-law, William H. Bradley of Ridgefield, Wis., were notified immediately of Mr. Lawson's death. Pending word from them, plans for the funeral were held in abeyance.

BENDER WILL ASK REDRESS FOR RAID

Cleveland, Aug. 20.—State Senator George H. Bender said today he would ask Governor Donahy, the courts and state prohibition Director B. F. McDonald to take a hand in the "absurd" raid made on his home yesterday by state dry agents.

The agents, finding no liquor and learning that the house they had been guided to was the senator's apologized and said there "was something rotten in Denmark."

Bender said today he would ask the courts whether the state and national constitutions meant anything to dry officers.

EXPECT MORE DEATHS AS COVE IS DRAGGED FOR OTHER VICTIMS

Weary Doctors Say Fatality Ranks Will Continue To Mount

Newport, R. I., Aug. 20.—Despite the unceasing vigilance of weary and worn doctors, death again slipped into the wards of both the Newport and the naval hospitals here early today and with its stilling touch raised the Mackinac's death toll to the two score mark.

At the naval hospital Harold Sherman of Pawtucket was the first to slip away today. He was followed by Paulin Stephens and then Mary Grace Wilderhelm, a child and Mary McCarthy of Pawtucket, succumbed.

The death list now totals forty with more than a dozen more fatalities seemingly certain before the day is over.

Medical authorities here predict that the fatalities will continue to occur throughout today, tomorrow and possibly into Saturday. Local police are expected to be sent to the scene of the disaster today in small boats to drag the edges of the cove for any additional victims.

There has as yet been no sign of little Jean Barbara McCarthy, whose entire family was wiped out by the blast. Three members of the crew of the ill fated Mackinac are also still missing as well as two men, David A. Burns and Alfred Breault, both of Pawtucket and seen year old Edward Gikas.

Assistant Attorney General Helten today made the first tangible statement as to the result of the state and federal probes being conducted into the cause of the disaster. He said: "State officials viewed the boiler and found it an old one, deteriorated by war and thinned down in certain places."

If officers of a steamer on which an explosion occurs have been guilty of negligence by acts of either commission or omission they may, where loss of life ensues, be guilty of manslaughter.

Governor Aram J. Pothier of Rhode Island declared yesterday that more stringent laws should be passed by the state for steamboat boiler inspection.

"I am shocked beyond words to learn of the terrible tragedy aboard the steamer Mackinac," the governor said. "Our laws should be made more stringent to avoid the recurrence of such a disaster."

Senator James F. Metcalf, one of the heroes of the rescuing fleet, secured immediate action through Secretary of Commerce Hoover, when the supervising inspector general, George Shier, left Washington last night for Providence. He will make a minute and careful examination of the Mackinac's boilers sometime today and it is reported that any proved findings will be made public at once.

ENGLISH REACTION TO DEBT AGREEMENT WITH BELGIUM MIXED

Press Complains That Terms More Liberal Than For Britain

London, Aug. 20.—England's reaction to the debt agreement between the U. S. and Belgium is showing a mixed tendency, according to press comment, but the expected complaints are in subdued tone. Lord Rothermere's Daily Mail voiced the complaint that Belgium had obtained more liberal terms from the United States than England had been able to get and half heartedly suggested modification of the British terms.

Regret that all war debts were not cancelled was revived by the conservative Morning Post.

"There seems to be a general and happy agreement," said the Post somewhat sarcastically, "in which British statesmen eagerly joined that Britain alone should pay the greater part of the cost of the war. America alone demands her bond."

The Times was thoroughly pleased at the American-Belgian agreement. "This glimpse of a human side of debt funding commission is a pleasant incident on the tolls road to general recovery," said the Times.

FAVORS BI-PARTISAN HIGHWAY OPERATION

Columbus, O., Aug. 20.—Directors of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation were on record here today as favoring a bi-partisan state highway commission in place of the present system providing for a state highway director. The directors decided to offer automobile insurance to farm bureau members and recommend vesting in the federation/directors absolute control and jurisdiction over all roads in the state highway system with power to choose the state highway engineer.

TEA HELPS CLIMBERS

Tiflis, Aug. 20.—Five girls, and the tea they made, were given credit today for the successful ascent of Mount El Bruz, Europe's highest mountain, by a party of nineteen members of the Georgian geographic society.

Mount El Bruz is 18,526 feet above sea level at the pinnacle, which gives it an elevation 3,000 feet greater than Mont Blanc.

During the frequent stops in the ascent, the five girls made pots of steaming tea and served the weary climbers.

In the presence of 150 relatives and friends, the marriage of Miss Alma Clementine Conklin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert B. Conklin and Mr. Fred Fugate, was solemnized at Eleazer Church, Wednesday evening at 6:45 o'clock.

A color scheme of yellow and white was carried out in the reception and a dainty refreshment course served in these colors.

VACATION MONTH.

WINTER resorts, summer resorts, spring and fall resorts and all-year round resorts make every month a vacation month and every season a vacation season, and yet August remains the vacation month of the majority. August means crowded highways and shore hotels, loaded passenger boats and "occupied" camping grounds and cottages.

The vacation now belongs to everybody, but it does not mean the same thing for all. Some get out of a vacation everything a vacation offers. Others experience few or none of these vacation joys and benefits. The fault is in the vacationist, not in the vacation. The success or failure of a vacation depends in great part upon the preparation of the individual for this leave-of-absence from the cares of business.

A change of scenery and associations is the first requirement of a successful vacation. The mountainer must choose the seashore or the plain, the city man must choose the country, and vice versa. A vacation ceases to be a vacation when it is spent at home where every object and person suggests the routine from which the vacation is intended to give surcease.

After the place has been chosen and the time has arrived for the departure it is essential that the vacationist throw himself into the business of having a vacation as vigorously as he applies himself to the business of making a living during the other fifty weeks of the year. One must take a vacation seriously if a complete divorce from workaday things is to be obtained.

A vacation returns only what is put into it. Some people fail to get the utmost out of a vacation for the same reason that they fail in every other enterprise they undertake.

AN EDUCATOR'S FALLACY.

A CHICAGO educator is campaigning for a 12-month school term. His arguments are that no industrial concern would keep its plant idle two months of the year; an all-year plan increases efficiency in school administration; losses due to interruption of school work can be eliminated; civil and moral training can best be accomplished by an all-year schedule.

In his comparison of the public schools with the industrial plant the educator betrays the real weakness of his argument. He would reduce the growing child to a manufactured laborer, in a second sense. He has considered only the objective, ignoring the subject to be used in obtaining it.

None can refute that a child can learn more in 12 months than in nine or ten months, or that much taught in one school term is forgotten during the summer recess, or that the restraint exercised by the school upon the pupil should be exerted throughout the entire year in the case of children where the proper home restraint is absent. These are admitted, but only as necessary evils.

One question which must be answered first of all in the consideration of the education of the child is its physical and mental capacity. Experience has shown that the child is mentally more alert and physically more robust when it enters school in the fall than when it leaves school in the late spring. What stronger proof of the indispensability of summer recess is needed?

DEAFNESS FOR THOUGHT.

IT IS well known that Thomas A. Edison, the famous inventor, has been almost stone-deaf for many years. It is, however, an astonishing bit of news, revealed by his wife, that Edison is dead from choice.

Offered the chance of restored hearing a few years ago by a great surgeon, and with an appointment, Edison refused to have it performed. He had much important work to do and thought he could do it better deaf!

"I have learned," he explained, "to think by being shut away from confusion and sound. And I have a lot more thinking to do before I die. If they fix up my ear, I'll have to learn to do it all over again. I haven't the time to lose."

Here is a remarkable sacrifice for constructive thought and the service of humanity. Also an impressive indictment of our civilization. What comment on our modern life, that a genius should find his deafness an asset rather than a liability!

The "Shepherdess Bow": This is a new dress decoration, consisting of a small tailored ribbon bow placed at the neck in front, with a streamer reaching as far down the dress as desired. It is made of two contrasting widths of ribbon, the narrower width placed on top of the wider and secured in place by small glass buttons (put at intervals down the streamer) (the thread which sews the buttons on, going through both ribbons). I have seen Shepherdess Bows made of dark blue picot-edged ribbon one inch wide placed on an ecru watered silk ribbon two inches wide and decorated with amber glass buttons. I have also seen black and white combinations, brown and buff combinations, and all manner of fancy ribbons put together in the same way. In some cases the streamer was looped up here and there but generally it fell straight. The Shepherdess Bow may fall to the hem of the dress or merely near the waist. The streamer is not attached to the dress at any place (only the tailored bow, at the top, is sewed to the gown).

The Powder Puff Handkerchief: These are ordinary handkerchiefs of any material, color or shape which have a small square of the same material attached in one corner (sewed on like a tiny pocket) to hold a small powder puff. As the puff fits into the little square snugly, there is no need to use a socket and ball fastener to keep it from slipping out—although that may be done if desired.

The Net "Marcel Cap": Every woman who resorts to the marcel or water wave knows the difficulty of protecting that wave from unnecessary muzzing at night, or when doing vigorous housework. City fancywork stores are now showing net caps which fit snugly over the hair like the old fashioned night caps, yet which are air yam and not heating. The bobbed head especially will benefit by this novelty. If you cannot find a pattern for making one, use an old boudoir cap as a pattern. Bind the edges of the net with cotton tape and tie it beneath the chin with two tape streamers.

Heart-Shaped Handkerchief Case: This would be an especially dainty gift for a young girl to make her favorite school teacher and summer time is an excellent time to prepare one's Christmas presents, birthday gifts etc., etc. Cut two pieces of still card-board heart-shaped, the entire heart measuring five inches in length. Pad these hearts with soft cotton, sprinkle

RESULTS THAT LAST

Proven by Xenia People.

Thousands of kidney sufferers have tried remedy after remedy with only temporary benefit. That's mighty discouraging! But one kidney remedy has earned a reputation for lasting results and there's plenty of proof right here in Xenia.

Read the experience of one who used Doan's Pills years ago and now makes her endorsement even stronger.

Mrs. David Pohl, 751 W. Second St., Xenia, says: "I suffered with lame back quite frequently, but the most annoying symptom was the irregularity of my kidneys. I felt languid and it seemed I couldn't get any rest. Doan's Pills from Donges' Drug Store cured me entirely."

OVER FOUR YEARS LATER, Mrs. Pohl said: "I have had no further occasion to use Doan's since they cured me."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Pills—the same that Mrs. Pohl had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

SIDE PAINED HER TERRIBLY

After Childbirth Women Should Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to Restore Normal Conditions

St. Louis, Missouri.—"After my first child was born I was bothered with a pain in my side which became more severe the longer I let it go. It was terrible. I often had to lie down to get any relief. I was in a weak and run-down condition, and my side seemed to be the point for all the pain. I was this way for three months, then I read your little booklet and the testimonials it contained, and started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I could feel relief after the first bottle and I have found it to do all you claim for it. I had to repeat it again after my second child was born. I sure will recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends."

Mrs. N. R. LAYTON, 2726A University St., St. Louis, Missouri.

If you are suffering from any weakness which causes such symptoms as pains in the side and back and nervous feelings, give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial now.

Do not continue to feel all run-down and half sick when relief is at hand. Sold by druggists everywhere.

Today's Talks

THAT GUIDING SENSE WITHIN US

I am sure that we know only a small part of all that is wonderful in this bodily life of ours. And we are just beginning to take note of the delicate mysteries underneath our spiritual existence.

So many times in my personal life I have arrived at cross corners and have been puzzled as to which road to take. And so I have waited for a moment — and from some part of the spiritual realm within me I have felt an urge — which in the end guided me aright.

I have often wondered at this seemingly secret guiding sense. Who gave it to me? Why have I got it?

Not that I am favored in any way. You have it. All have it. It's what makes us thoughtful of others, kind and gentle under duress, and noble and forbearing in so many of the defeats of this life.

It's what makes us understand the frailty of our own earthly frame and it's what inspires us to better and further effort what, in our loneliness, we grope for some hand to lead us of some sign of direction that we may walk ahead unafraid.

It is this guiding sense within us that teaches us tolerance and love toward all mankind, as well as toward those creatures that are so helpless, and which inhabit this earth happily, hoping for our care and protection.

Who gives to the bird his sense of direction and guides him thousands of miles from his winter home to his summer home? Year after year he will return to the place he loved the season before.

It is quite enough to know that we have this sense that there is a force in life that takes possession of us and even shapes the imagination behind our will.

We do right, not always because we want to, but because we know that it is good for us and for others to do so.

ORIGIN OF FIRE IS NOW BEING PROBED

Formal investigation to determine, if possible, the cause of the $80,000 fire that destroyed the combined stable and garage of the Wilson Engineering and Contracting Company, West Church Street, early Monday night, was begun Thursday by Fire Chief T. B. Claire and Michael Powers, Columbus, deputy state fire marshal.

Thus far, Chief Claire has been unable to determine the cause of the blaze. The flames first appeared in the hay mow and spontaneous combustion in the hay, a carelessly tossed match or cigarette, spark from a locomotive or faulty electric wiring are being considered as responsible.

The investigation of the ruins is expected to be concluded Thursday and a formal report made to Columbus.

That he possesses a will, signed by Johannes Reuther, dated, 1837, in which these properties are bequeathed to his living descendants, is a claim made by William Blinzler. The properties, which were taken over by the German government, are credited stopped here. He is a retired novelist. Leaving West Hoboken, N. J., August 3, Leully hopes to reach St. Louis in time to witness the national amateur championship race scheduled for September 5 and 6. Appearing to be 15 years younger than he really is, Leully said he has visited every state in these United States excepting the Dakotas and rode 150,000 miles since 1894.

I'm sorry about this

I realize that a great wave of keenly painful disappointment will sweep over Greene County this week on account of my not having anything to say here this week. I have searched myself diligently and found no ideas whatever. I am in perfect health, my pipe draws well and my matches are dry and in all OTHER departments I seem to be normal. If you will bear with me I'll endeavor to correct this later.

JACK WILLETT

I tried to help Jack!

Beal and I found Jack sobbing hoarsely over the above statement and I did all I could to get him straightened out. I suggested a whole list of things for him to write about but he said:

"No, Mack, these drills and binders and cutters and tractors you want me to talk on are not reasonable THIS week. It's all right, to mention them, Mack, and get farmers to THINKING of them but it's too, too early for ME to say anything about them.

Beal and I drifted silently out of doors.

All Beal and I wanted him to mention was the following list. Beal and I leave it to YOU folks as to whether Jack couldn't have found SOMETHING in this list to write about. Here it is:

WHEAT DRILLS: $125.00 to $225.00. You'll need them in three or four weeks, too.

CORN BINDERS: $220.00. Two weeks more and you'll need one. Read last week's advertisement on these, it's good.

CORN HUSKERS: $300.00 to $1100.00. Right along from now and these will come in handy.

FEED GRINDERS: $30.00 to $300.00. You need them as often as the average male needs a pair of pants.

ENSILAGE CUTTERS: $300.00 to $500.00. Right along from now on for a month or so you need these.

MC-D. TRACTORS: $850.00 to $1400.00. There's very seldom a time when you can't find a job for a tractor. They don't cost anything either when they're not working.

Beal and I don't expect you to buy ALL of these pieces of machinery. There's no need of that so far as we can see. However it's a fact that there's plenty that Jack could have talked about if he just WOULD.

MACK.

Shorty Says—

After looking over what's been written by Jack and Mack I've come to the conclusion that this firm is trying to get RICH! I added up all the things Mack and Beal want to sell a farmer and it comes to $3745. There will be about 800 farmers in the town Saturday and Mack and Beal expect to sell EACH farmer the whole mess!

That will mean that Jack Willett will take in $2,996,000.00 on that day! If THIS happens, what is Verne Sutton of the Sutton twins going to do on this Studebaker question! It looks very selfish to me to see Mack take advantage of Verne this way and not allow the farmer no money to buy a car with.

Better come in Saturday. It sure looks like it's going to be a mighty big day!

"NOT POSSIBLE TO CLASSIFY"

BY MACK SAUER

A frayed and faded copy of the Ohio State Journal, published November 10, 1929, gives one a peep into the life of a century ago. It teems with human interest and its make up is not to be laughed at.

Here are some para graphs picked at random from the copy, that is before me:

TO SAMUEL WHITSELL

You will please take notice that I shall present a petition to the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, at the next session thereof, praying to be released from the matrimonial engagements I was so unfortunate to contract with you—your having been guilty of a crime against the laws of this state, and left the country in order to avoid merited punishment rendering you totally unworthy of the affections of an honest woman. Nov. 4, 1829. Caroline Whitsell.

PORK WANTED

RULES FOR WIVES

1. A good wife will always receive her husband with smiles—leave nothing undone to make home agreeable.
2. She will never attempt to rule, or appear to rule her husband. Such conduct degrades husbands—and wives always partake largely of the degradation of their husbands.
3. She will never attempt to interfere in his business unless he asks her advice or counsel and will never attempt to control him in the management of it.

BRUTE

My wife just hit me with a rake;
Said I, "This ain't like ma would make."

The State Journal 100 years ago had the right idea in classified advertising. No big black cuts. No black type hiding the smaller ads away. Some of the alleged classified mediums of today must get their ideas from the dark ages.

A fair representation of Greene Countians were numbered among the approximately 500 people attending the twenty-eighth annual reunion of the Maryland Association of Ohio held at Forest Park, Dayton, Wednesday.

J. H. Bamber, Dayton, is the new president of the association.

Registration of members, appointment of nominating committees and officers reports occupied the morning session.

Robert E. Hahn, Dayton, secretary, made a report on necrology in the afternoon session, and short talks were made by several members of the organization. Several musical numbers were also provided for entertainment of members.

CLAIM ANDERSON IS SEEN AT READING, PA.

Philadelphia, Aug. 20 — "Dutch" Anderson, wanted in Muncie, Ind., for the murder of Ben Hance, a farmer, and his wife, may be on his way to Philadelphia.

A man believed to be Anderson was seen driving at high speed along the Philadelphia Pike, from Reading, Pa., late last night, after a travelling salesman from Muncie, Ind., told Reading detective he saw Anderson eating dinner with a companion at a hotel.

The salesman told detectives he recognized the man from pictures published in newspapers. The men, he said, after finishing their meal yesterday, jumped into an automobile bearing an Indiana license and speeded away. A car answering this description was later seen speeding along the Philadelphia Pike.

GLASS PITCHES ALL STARS TO VICTORY OVER RAILROADERS

With Glass demonstrating why he is being scouted as material for the pitching staff of a major league club, the All Stars of the Xenia Industrial League surprised their most ardent backers by administering a 5 to 4 defeat to the Pennsylvania Railroad nine, champions of the Cincinnati Industrial League, Wednesday afternoon at Washington Park.

If Glass was off form, it was not visible to the nude eye. The former Bowersville Bayliff twirler granted but six scattered hits and three of the Pennsylvania scores were unearned.

The game devolved into a pitchers' duel between Glass and Thomas with the local hurler conceding the big edge. Thomas allowed eight blows, but five of these were bunched in the second inning for three tallies. Glass helped to win his own game with the stick by cracking a double and single and driving in a couple of runs.

Glass was stingy with his hits with men on bases but the visitors succeeded in bunting five of their six hits in the third, fourth and fifth frames to push across four runs. The local hurler was invincible in the last four innings, not allowing a hit.

Bottomoff, Cain and Glass were the batting heroes of the game. Each accumulated two hits at opportune moments.

The All Stars won the game in the seventh by scoring one run on a pass to Murrell, and successive singles by Cain and Glass.

A large crowd witnessed the game. The Wednesday victory was also a victory for Rube Merchant, coach of the local team, who was formerly assistant manager of the Cincinnati nine under J. J. Dugan.

Merchant announces a return game is being arranged with the Pennay team in Xenia for early in September. Box score:

CANNING FACTORY NOW IN OPERATION

The Jamestown Canning Company, owned by Charles Vandervort, of Yellow Springs, began operations on the first Thursday morning. The building, a large brick structure formerly housing an elevator, was purchased several months ago by Mr. Vandervort, and turned into a canning factory.

Between 175 and 200 applicants applied for work at the factory on the first day. Only sweet corn will be canned at the factory at present and the next several weeks will see thousands of bushels of corn from over the country being hauled to the factory.

The factory is located on South Limestone Street.

FIRE CHIEF IS NOW ASSISTANT STATE FIRE MARSHAL HERE

Fire Chief T. B. Claire has been commissioned an assistant state fire marshal by Louis F. Miller, state fire marshal, in accordance with the provisions of a new state law by which all fire chiefs in the state are made deputy state fire marshals.

Chief Claire announces the new law was enacted by the last General Assembly to lift some of the burden from the state fire marshal's office of making formal investigations of fires over Ohio.

This procedure entails a heavy expense and is unwarranted. By the new method of making all fire chiefs assistant state marshals, local fire chiefs are authorized to make investigations of arson and fires in their territory or anywhere in the state if need be, without the assistance of Columbus officials.

BRINGING UP FATHER

By GEORGE McMANUS

JUST FOLKS

COUNSELING THE BOY

Lad in your teens, and the whole world before you,
With numberless pleasures awaiting your touch,
And somewhere a maiden, who'll meet to adore you,
Hark to your father who loves you so much:
Go to that future, prepare to enjoy it,
But know that you carry the power to destroy it.

Go with the hope to be happy, but knowing
That not at the moment is happiness made;
That never is reaping before there is sowing,
And never stays faith where a trust is betrayed;
Out there for your future you may go to a duel,
And the rules are but few, but, my boy, they are cruel!

Be true to yourself! 'Tis so easy to say it,
But bitter the price if but once you forget,
For not once but times over in anguish you'll pay it,
In shame and disgrace and remorse and regret;
Be true to your God, to your country, your neighbor,
And you shall be happy whatever your labor.

Four future shall try you, shall tempt you, shall burn you,
With fires of mad fury, but be you serene,
And never let fortune or fair woman turn you
From ways that are open, and honest and clean;
Take all the delights which the right will afford you,
And life to the end will uphold and reward you.

All arrests were made by Motorcycle Policeman Peter Shagin.

MICHAEL'S MARRIAGE

By MICHAEL

CHAPTER 127.

There was a spring in Michael's step as he strode up the long walk that lay between the gate and the door of Menlow house; he was whistling softly some popular fox-trot he had heard at lunch at Edouard's Cafe; and it was apparent that himself.

Inside, by a crackling fire in the library, built for his cheery benefit, he found Lilah with her mother. He guessed what Lilah had been telling her parent, as he responded to Mrs. Pharley's welcoming smile with a beam. He kissed his wife, threw off his coat and hat, warmed his hands by the fire, and swerved to her enthusiastically.

"Guess what, dear! I've found a factory!"

His enthusiasm infected her. "Oh, have you! Where?"

"It's a little place down on the Big Four railroad tracks. Three floors. Fairly good condition. Sort of small, but plenty of room for additions. And it can get it for $350 a month for the first year, with an option for four years. There's a lot of transmission belting up; it used to be a machine shop; and it is arranged for the sort of factory I need."

"That's just fine. How did you happen to run across it?"

"I saw an advertisement in the paper this morning. The man who has it had a sub-lease and he's dying to get it off his hands. Hasn't been occupied for nearly a year. I gave him $250 for a ten day option, half of which is returnable if I don't have exercise it. That means I'll have to act right away."

"But how can you? You haven't any partners, or any staff, or anything?"

"I can attend to that." He turned suddenly to the visitor. "Say Mother Pharley, you'll keep this under your hat, won't you?"

"Yes, mother, you must." The elder woman looked at them with gray, offended eyes. "I'm not in the habit of spreading things," she responded with half an effort to smile.

Lilah passed over the matter quickly. "Michael, I told mother."

"I guessed so," he grinned. He moved to her side and bent over to embrace her.

"You two had better not try to give any more parties," Mother Pharley announced solemnly.

"I'm glad I'm going to have them now." Immediately she became thoughtful. "Michael, you can't go to New York to see those people until after the dinner. Do you suppose you can get that man to extend the option and not charge you any more?"

"Gee, I never thought of that. I'll have to get him to extend the option."

"You shouldn't let any parties and foolishness interfere with business. Especially since Michael is practically out of a job," Mother Pharley cut in. Lilah frowned annoyed, and glanced furtively at Michael.

"Are you going to take Lilah?" she asked continued.

"Well no, I was thinking of going alone. Won't be there but one day."

"Why, Michael?" It was plain that she was hurt. "You promised to take me."

Her outburst fussed him. "Yes I did, dear, but I meant some time when I was going to be there several days. You wouldn't get any pleasure out of just going for one day."

"Well, why not stay longer?" Michael was irritated by her persistence. "I can't. I still have this other job, you know. I can't do business for myself on someone else's time. It'll take me away two half days and a whole one as it is."

"I want to go," she pouted. Mother Pharley maintained an interested silence.

Michael, red with irritation, was on the verge of an outburst. Remembered. No, he must learn. But as he started to speak, he to control his temper now. He smiled at Lilah tenderly.

"Why, of course you can go, dear—it's all right for you to travel."

In his mind he cursed himself for being a coward.
